Styles and fads and looks have changed
All around Northern High,
Skirts have climbed from ankle to knee,
Just to catch the eye.

Hair has blown from wet to dry,
And Mamie's bangs are gone,
Bobby socks, I do declare,
Have been replaced by nylon.

All these things we do not share,
It was not meant to be.
But there are some things that we have
Which are the same, you see.

Friendships, hopes and memories
Formed at Northern High,
Will always be instilled in us,
And carried far and nigh.

We came together from far and near,
We hoped that we'd be true,
We struggled on for victory
'Neath our colors, gold and blue.

We spent our high school life here,
It glided swiftly by,
We pledged, in work and deed,
Our love for Northern High.

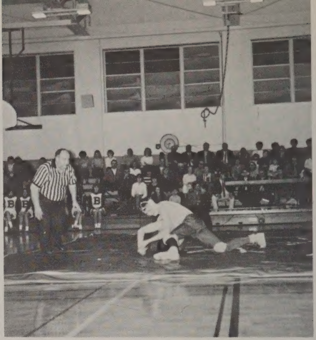
The following pages will illustrate what the SILVER Anniversary of Northern High School really means.

Students would be deprived the convenience of a gymnasium until 1954.



Born in 1966, wrestling becomes increasingly popular as the years unfold.

Sports

Many changes have taken placed during the past two and one-half decades of Northern's sports. The major events of the first year were soccer, basketball, and baseball. The second year the gymnasium was added to the school, and in 1955 soccer was replaced by football. The infant of the sports department, wrestling, didn't debut until 1966. Although girls had basketball teams in their separate high schools, the girls' basketball team was not started here until 1973. Regardless of changes in the program, there will always be that certain breed of sports enthusiasts who will brave any weather in order to experience those few hours of friendly competition.

One of the two original sports, basketball celebrates its 25th birthday.

No matter what the era, it's hard to say goodbye to those "miserable" years.

Individual

The things most remembered are probably not learned from text books. Relationships that each individual has with others determine his type of school year. Unnoticed moments, trust between pupil and teacher, or understanding a problem that took all night to solve, can make school rewarding. One can leave N.H.S. with pride and accomplishment, and memories of people he will never see again, feeling thankful he has had the chance to know them--or leave, feeling six years have been wasted, and nothing gained. For those who feel school does nothing for them--what have you done for the school?

Memories of best friends are special.

We'll remember the crazy times with "our gang."

Built in 1966 the cafetorium made more dining space. During lunch time, many true personalities emerge.

Selection of FFA Sweetheart was popular before girls became Ag. students.

When held in the gym, the Jr.-Sr. Prom transformed a basketball court into a paradise.

Crowning of the May King and Queen was once a very extravagant event.

Lasting Memories

Numerous memories are formed while attending high school. Most remembered are usually ones of royalty and grandeur. Such events as the prom, and Autumn Glory have become traditions. Activities such as the senior party, the tea, the class trip and picnic were not enjoyed by the early classes. But the once popular sophomore dance, musicals, and Sadie Hawkins Day have ceased to exist. Still, students over the years have much in common. Most agree that the school years are the best of one's life--and they cling to those lasting memories.

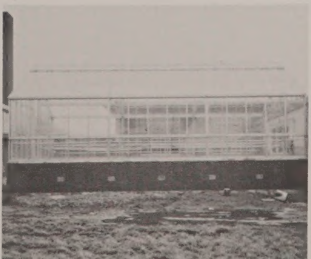
Often Agriculture and Home Ec. students cooperated in their learning experiences.

Vocational Opportunities

Since the vocational shops ewer not built until 1965, vocational programs prior to that time were Vocational Agriculture, Business Education, and Home Economics. Through the years all three departments have expanded to meet the wider interests of students. And beginning in 1965 the vocational program increased its scope to include Electronics, Auto Mechanics, and Building Trades. The classes used to be separated as to gender, but now males are becoming interested in Business and Home Economics, and females are enrolling in shop related courses. Programs which were once thought to be only for students who weren't "academic" are gaining popularity for all.

"Learning by doing" makes the school farm successful.

In 1966 a new shop and glass greenhouse were added to the agriculture facilities.



A virtual wealth of knowledge awaits any student seeking it, in the Melvin Kesner Library.

It was once against library rules for a boyfriend and girlfriend to sit together.

Educational Opportunities

Symbolic of the increased educational opportunities of the school is the fact that the library is twice the size it once was, and is still growing. For those seeking the education, there are so many programs of various interests throughout the school that no student could cover them adequately. From wider choice of electives to mini courses the student is given the opportunity to grasp the knowledge he truly wants. A graduate of 1955 says, "Today students have a better opportunity, scholastically, than I did, if they'll use it." For the student who only wishes to learn enough to get by, perhaps the opportunities are limited. But for those who are willing to explore, the system offers hidden possibilities.

Report

Each nine weeks many a student spends hours figuring how he can make just one more point in order to gain one letter grade higher. The he holds his breath until report cards come, and either runs to his parents with the good news or hides till the parents shake the card from his pocket. Although this process is probably the same as that of 25 years ago, some related to reports have changed. The Honor Society was one form for recognition for high achievers who had a least a B average and were elected by the faculty. The Honor Roll of the 1950's consisted of straight A's on 50% of ones academic grades. The Honorable Mention Roll consisted of those who attained a B average. Today we have the Distinguished Honor Roll (straight A's), the Honor Roll (B average) and the new citizenship honor roll. The ultimate report is graduation, where a student discovers if he's learned enough to become a part of society. There will probably always be reports and always the question remains--does the grade reflect what is actually learned, or how well a student can outwit teachers, or what was already known before the course was taken.

Report Card

Diplomas once stated whether a student graduated as Academic, Commercial Stenographic, General Business, Vocational Home Economics, Vocational Agriculture or General.

The final report--the final opportunity to be with classmates.

SCHOOL LIFE

We emerge from our Twenty-fifth year with a new sense of identity. We unveil the memories of '53 and compare them with happenings of '77. The styles, curriculum and looks of ourselves and our school have changed somewhat, but we now realize that we are virtually the same people. We have shared the same feelings of disappointment and shed the same tears of defeat. We have shrieked the same thrills of victory and smiled the same smiles of joy.

Garrett County's Bicentennial Celebration Involves Students

The Agriculture Instructor, Mr. Loughrie, with the aid of Dana Rush, fires an oldtime steam engine in preparation for threshing.

Rodney Fike, Walter Fike, Dean George, and Mr. Loughrie demonstrate the age-old farm transportation, walking, as a means of transporting the oats which were threshed.

Agriculture student, Dean George, listens as an experienced farmer tells stories of how threshing used to be done.

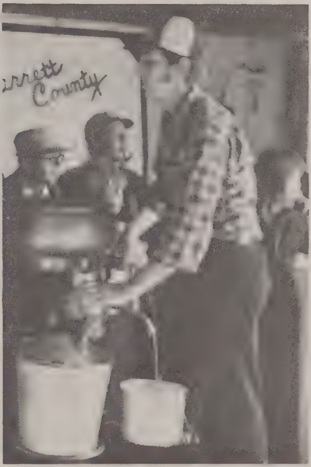
As the grain is fed into the thresher, Mr. Loughrie regulates the steam pressure, while Dana Rush observes.

A major attraction of the Garrett County Bicentennial Harvest Festival is the steam engine sponsored by the FFA and fired by Mr. Loughrie. When the whistle blows, numerous people gather and exchange stories about the past days of agriculture. But the FFA, 4-H members and other students aid in other demonstrations and displays in farming and household techniques of the past 200 years. Northern Band Boosters open their stand to refresh comers, and many students enjoy being spectators. As Northern celebrates her 25th anniversary, we congratulate the U.S. on her 200th.

Many spectators gather at the threshing demonstrations to marvel at the way farm labor used to be done.

Rex Schmidt, with a relief crew of Rick Broadwater and Walter Fike, cranks the antique milk separator and prepares to churn butter.



Greg Fratz exhibits his antique tractors and is always around when help is needed.

Tony Doerr, Brad DeWitt, and Gary Rounds inspect the corn after Greg Fratz runs the stalks through the antique chopper.

Students Active In Autumn Festivities

Representing Garrett Co. Agriculture and the Farm Bureau are Brenda Pope, Cindy Kamp (Front Tier), Marie Guard, Cheryl Harman (Middle Tier) and Queen Valerie Loughrie.

Hard work and dedication make a club worthwhile. Over the years the Sr. FFA has displayed both. Here, members feature farm tools used during the American Revolution.

Highlighting the Autumn Glory Parade are princesses and escorts on the Queen's float: Nancy Jo Durst, Danny Beiler, Teresa Hinebaugh, Kurt Lear, Mary Kay Frantz, Mike Fratz, Doug Butler, and Maid of Honor, Kathy Benedict.

FOURTH PLACE was achieved by the proud members of Jr. FFA.

The Autumn Glory Festival, held in Oakland on October 16, 1976, features many units from the surrounding areas, and also a few distant ones. Participants from Northern include the Senior Band, members of the Legionettes and the Garrettes, the Garret Co. Farm Queen and her court, the Jr. & Sr. FFA and members of the Autumn Glory Queen's court.

The Homecoming Game held on October 29, true to the Huskies' grid style, is a victory for Northern as Meyersdale breaks under pressure. Susan Bender is crowned Homecoming Queen during a half-time show presented by the Sr. Band and the Drill Team. After the game a dance is sponsored by the Varsity cheerleaders, featuring "The Chinese Bandits."

Northern's Sr. Band and Drill Team performs in the shape of a graduation cap during half-time at the Homecoming football game.

The Northern Garr-ettes are just one of the many participating groups in the Autumn Glory Parade.

Susan Bender, escorted by her brother, Larry, expresses her emotion after being crowned Northern's Homecoming Queen by Coach Speicher at the annual homecoming football game.

Donna Ringer leads the Legionettes through the streets of Oakland in the Autumn Glory Parade.

Music Students Display Talent

The Huskie Marching Band took part in the annual Autumn Glory Parade held in Oakland on October 16.

The Sr. Band and Drill Team, in the shape of Garrett Co., perform at the half-time of the Northern-Beall game under the direction of Scott Schwing, drum major.

Mr. Schwing awaits the attention of the crowd as the band prepares to perform a number in the annual Christmas Concert.

Debbie Garlock and Cathy Reckner concentrate on their music as the band performs Tchaikovsky's Nutcraker Suite.

The annual Christmas Concert, combining the Band, Chorus and String classes, was presented to the public on Wednesday evening, December 22, and to the student body on Thursday, December 23. The Band performed a wide variety of Christmas music--from classical Tchaikovsky to the modern "S'cool Room Jingle Bells." The chorus combined many a cappella numbers with several numbers using piano accompaniment. The hi-lite of the choral portion of the program was "And the Glory of the Lord" from Handel's MESSIAH. Cathy Reckner played a flute solo with background by Advanced String players, and the Beginning String class performed several carols.

The Sr. Chorus performs at the annual Christmas Concert under the direction of Mr. Bernassoli.

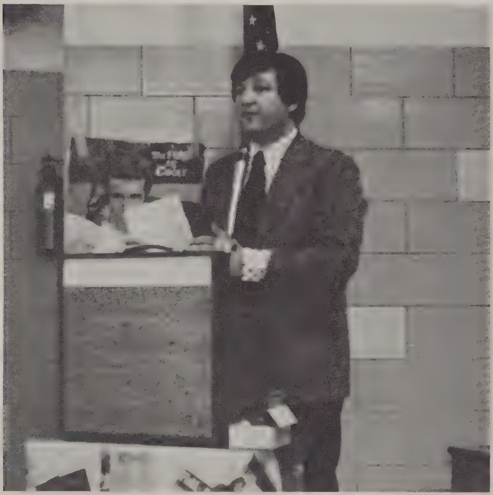
Cathy Reckner performs "Cantique de Noel" on the flute.

Laurie Springman, Nancy Rush, Patty Oester and Don Davis accompany Cathy on violins using an arrangement written by her.

Gerald Maust and other members of the Beginner's String Class perform at the concert.

Northern Students Show Their Spirit

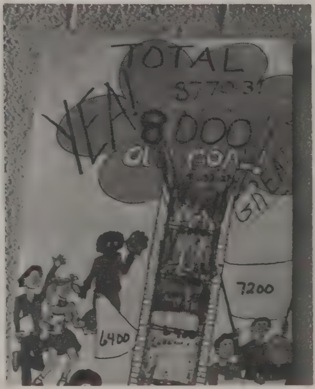
Mr. Hanna, the representative from QSP, explains the technique of selling magazines.



Many nice prizes are offered to student magazine salesmen.

Rae Ann Brenneman, co-captain of the campaign, serves Connie Thomas, a member of 12-E, at the pizza party for the high Sr. - Hi homeroom.

The goal, set at $8,000 was met and passed with a total of $8,770.31.



The magazine campaign, headed by Valerie Loughrie, captain, and Rae Ann Brenneman, co-captain, is held in October. The campaign is a great success, as we pass our goal and super-goal with a grand total of $10,399. High Jr. High homeroom is 9-C and high Sr. High homeroom is 12-E. High Salespersons are Kristine Maust and Roger Yoder.

A Pep rally is held before the Norther-Meyersdale Homecoming game. The Sr. Band, Majorettes, Drill Team and Cheerleaders perform for the student body. A skit is presented by Ms. Rettel's drama class.

The varsity cheerleaders raise a lot of laughs as they become "little people."

The varsity cheerleaders keep the spirit up with their "clock cheer."

The drama class performs a skit, pitting the Indians against the mighty Huskies.

Senior Party—
The Beginning Of The End

Cakes depicting the theme of the '77 Senior Party wait to be devoured.

Diana Lechliter balances one dangerously tipping plate as Mrs. Yunker loads another.

Red devils bearing the names of Senior boys and blue and white angels inscribed with Senior girls' names adorn the wall of the cafeteria.

KNOCKIN' ON HEAVEN'S DOOR

The Senior Party is just one of the activities which belongs solely to the graduating class. Everything from eating and dancing to playing ping pong and volleyball takes place. Though it is meant to be a night for the Class of '77 to meet as one, seniors choose to remain in individual groups, having fun throughout the night.

Even though a dance is in progress in the cafeteria, most seniors engage in a heated volleyball game in the gym.

Darrel Evans wields a push broom as he aids in the cleaning up following the Sr. Party.

Debbie Garlock, Donny Paugh, and Susan Bender, strip the cafeteria walls of their decorations.

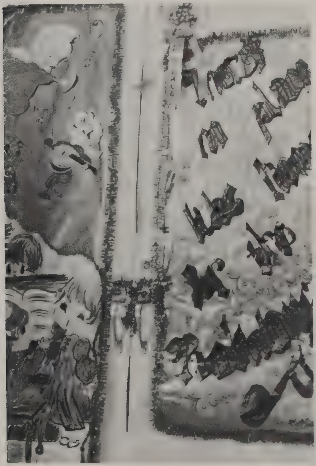
This may look like the final remains of the Sr. Party, but many fond memories are left in the minds of those who attend.

Christmas Spirit Displayed By All

Sharon Barefoot stands by as Cathy Reckner painstakingly sketches.

The task of door-decorating involves much creatvity and a lot of hard work.

The Band room doors, done by Cathy Reckner, receive First Place.



Second Place goes to Mrs. Yunker's door designed by Cora Humberson and Marie Guard.

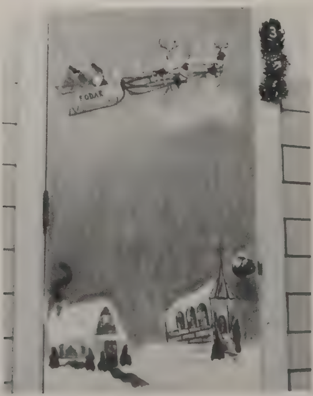
Receiving 3rd Place was the door to the darkroom, done by the VIKING staff.



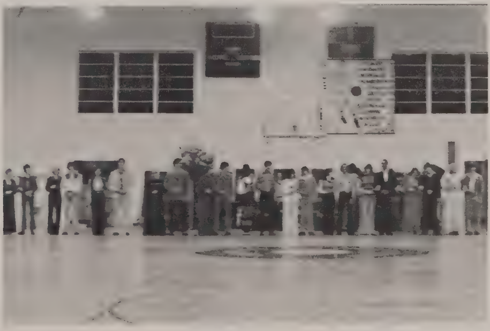
Several years ago a French Club was formed at Northern. Since the beginning of this organization, their many activities have included dances, doughnut sales, light bulbs, candy, and novelties sales, and many other fund-raising activities in order to go to Canada. This year the French Club, reorganized under Miss Norris, co-sponsors a Christmas Dance with the FHA which introduces a Christmas Queen contest to benefit Malcolm Broadwater, an NHS student, recently injured.

A Christmas Dance, sponsored by the French Club for the benefit of Malcolm Broadwater, is reigned over by Queen Chris Feree and her escort Greg Fratz.

By collecting votes in the form of money contributions, Chris Feree and Brenda Pope become Christmas Queen and Princess.

The band offers soft background music as Mrs. Yunker introduces candidates and escorts.

Together, the candidates have collected over $1,000 to help Malcolm.



Heavy Snows
Prove Disabling To Garrett County

The owner of this car is lucky; he can see his vehicle. Many cars were abandoned and buried under huge drifts.

Garrett Co. roads are snow-covered and many are impassable during an almost continual snow storm in January.

High winds caused unbelievably high drifts throughout the area.

Even though the drifts have had several days to settle, they are still monstrous.

Christmas vacation turns out to be quite a long one, as January dumps 144 inches of snow onto Garrett County, along with record-breaking cold temperatures. Mountainous drifts conceal fences, shrubbery, doorways and even roads! Schools open nine days during the month of January, three of which are half-days, and Garrett Co. students don't return full time until February 4, missing a total of 19 days.

In order to keep roads open, state and county road crews work double-time with machinery such as this V-blade plow.

Many families in the extremely rural areas of Garrett Co. are stranded in their homes because of the enormous quantity of snow.

Abnormal weather conditions and sub-zero temperatures close Garrett Co. schools for the majority of January.

Huge mounts of that dreaded "white stuff" practically conceal the sidewalk and entrances to the gym.

Students Volunteer Aid

Every class period Miss Williams is assisted by student volunteers. Here, Juanita Hanft presides over the main desk.

As assistant to Mrs. Yunker during her academic U.S. History class, Carol Durst does typing and runs errands.

Taking advantage of a free period in her busy schedule, Janice Riggs is a science assistant to her father.

Teachers welcome student aides, who can be sent on errands and conned into doing everything from decorating bulletin boards to typing tests. Library aides check out and return books to their proper places. Music assistants play instruments and give individual instruction. Most teachers appreciate students who take time out of their hectic days to offer a little help.

Office assistants are an important part of school life. Geni Durst studies a vertical file.

Teaching rules and fundamentals of activities and sports is a big part of a phys. ed. assistant's job. Duane Butler carries out his duties.

Music assistants gain experience in conducting and working with students. Susan Bender helps as accompanist for seventh graders.

Setting an example for younger band members, Artie Sines assists Mr. Schwing.

"You've Come A Long Way, Baby!"

A trophy presented for the best cheerleading squad at the Christmas Basketball Tournament is obtained by the Varsity cheerleaders: B. Stanton, S. Carey, A. Hershberger, T. Hinebaugh, K. Benedict--CO CAPT., and T. Robinson--CAPT.

JR. HIGH: T. Sisler--CO CAPT., T. Edgar, M. Gibellino, J. Thomas--CAPT., C. DeWitt, B. DeWitt, L. Greco, K. Stieringer.

JR. VARSITY: S. Griffith, C. Ross, J. Bashore--CO CAPT., A. Stanton--CAPT., S. Metheny.

T. Robinson--CAPT., K. Benedict--CO CAPT., T. Hinebaugh and A. Hershberger help the Varsity squad cheer the Huskies to victory at Salisbury.

Uniform styles have changed along with cheering styles. The 1964 Varsity Squad displays knee-length skirts that were very fashionable at the time.

The "spirit-seekers" of Northern have always had their work cut out for them. They are the few who yell and scream at the crowds of spectators, trying, sometimes in vain, to get a response. Cheerleading styles and methods have changed drastically over twenty-five years. In 1954, cheerleading try-outs were held before the entire student body, and then the students returned to homerooms and evaluated each girl on ability, personality, character, and neatness. Now prospective cheerleaders perform for a panel of judges. Skirts have shortened and movements have become uniform and distinct rather than loose. The Drill Team, organized in 1972 by Mrs. Pat Miller, has continued to progress under the new leadership of Miss Bonnie Crowe and Miss Sue Dorcy in 1977.

Before a performance, member of the drill team congregate for last minute comparisons of uniforms and leg makeup.

Long hours of practice and instruction pay off as the drill team moves in unison.

"Follow the leader!" All eyes are on Sue Bishoff, captain of the group.

Majorettes: B. Wakefield, J. Nieb, L. Finzel, C. Schroyer, C. Renner.

Social Activities Enrich School Life

Hall traffic is the obstacle for everyone who steps outside a classroom door. Colette DeWitt stops for a chat before attempting to make her way to class.

EMERGENCY EXIT
OF WINDOW

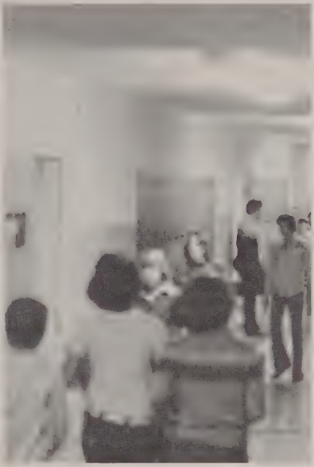
Riding the school bus isn't always dull. Here, Dwight Kipp has a "friendly chat" with Barbara McKenzie.

Music students are once again entertained by the Annapolis Brass Quintet.

A realistic performance is seen by the student body as pantomimist Howard Warren performs for the student body.

The social scene has always been a big part of school life. For twenty-five years students have poured into halls, auditoriums, buses and bleachers with the hopes of witnessing a spectacular sports event or having a quiet conversation with a friend. One will long remember waiting in those never-ending cafeteria lines and the things that did or didn't happen at those unforgettable Friday night flings.

The cafeteria is ever a social hall. Students not only enjoy lunch here, but also hear and share some of the most interesting conversations.



Hall traffic involves everyone as students make their way through the crowded halls after a class change.

Avoiding the rush of hall traffic is Rodney Youmans, a work release student.

Social functions are a highlight even after the classroom doors have closed. Students fill the bleachers for an evening of basketball.

Service Employees Carry Varied Responsibilities

Serving school lunches is a busy job. Here, Mrs. Harman keeps the pace during the noon rush.

Part of the chore of serving the meal is cleaning up, as Mrs. Lena Glotfelty and Mrs. Eva Yoder, cafeteria cooks, reveal.

A custodian's job is never done. Mr. Hanft sweeps the floor after a hectic school day.

Custodian Hubert Thomas' day flows with breaks and repairs.

Cuts, bruises and paper work are just a few of the many things Mrs. Groer, health aide, encounters during the day.

BUS DRIVERS: J. Lininger, H. Savage, G. Thomas, R. Bond, B. Enlow, B. Rush, O. Schrock, J. Paugh, W. Margroff, D. Rush, P. Miller, H. Billmer, V. Sines, D. Evans, W. Merrill, W. Collier, H. Yoder, D. Yoder, H. Wiley, R. Meyers, J. Rodeheaver, R. Thomas. COOKS: H. Harman, L. DeWitt, D. Frazee, L. Glotfelty, Y. Collier, R. Viragh, R. Miller, F. Reichenbecher, E. Yoder. JANITORS: H. Thomas, W. Hanft, B. Schoffield, A. Teets, D. Fike.

The sorting of test booklets is just one of the many jobs of Miss Jenny Knox, guidance secretary.

Among the duties of Mrs. Dorothy George, office secretary, are filing, bookkeeping, typing and keeping track of school events.

Bus driver's such as Mr. Schrock, shown here, are responsible for as many as sixty students and transport them well over twenty-five miles a day.

Students endure numerous bumpy bus rides throughout their school years. Here, a few of the many buses begin to line up before the 3:20 rush.

Here At Last

Part of moving forward to that Special "senior year" is the enjoyment of extras reserved for juniors and seniors. The prom, class rings, announcements and other benefits have always played an exciting part in those final years.

Every year seniors look forward to ordering the various senior necessities.

A crowd of anxious seniors awaits the distribution of Memory Books and senior keys.

Juniors finally receive class rings, which were ordered at the end of their sophomore year.

Displayed here by Becky Stanton and Dave Savage, are two of the 5,760 candy bars sold by the Junior Class to finance the prom.

4. In keeping with an overwhelming victory against Bruce, Kurt Lear slips through the grasp of a tackle.

Even though four games are played in pouring rain and one in subzero temperatures on a snow-covered field, the Huskies present Northern with a 5-3 record. With a coaching staff consisting of Mr. Custer, Mr. McKenzie, and Mr. Sines, the gridders put on an impressive show, with such winning scores as 39-6 against Bruce, 42-0 over Hancock, and best of all--12-0 in a shut-out game with Southern! And so, the grateful student body salutes the 1976-77 varsity football team--Garrett County Champs!

After playing three consecutive games in pouring rain, the Huskies are greeted by just above zero temperatures and a snow covered playing field at Southern.

Huskies Never Quit

Injuries don't stop the Huskies, for immediately after having his ankle taped by Coach Mckenzie, Dave Frazee returns to the game.

Several years ago the seventh and eighth graders had their own basketball team, but it dwindled to just a Jr. high team, including eighth and ninth graders. In 1976 Mr. Hipkiss organized a seventh and eighth grade team. Because of incredible weather conditions during the current season, the team plays only four of their nine scheduled games, and comes out with a 2-2 record. The ninth grade team, under Coach Speicher, also plays only four games, and ends with an 0-4 record.

3. The ball sails through the atmosphere as Tim Miller tries for a foul shot in the Salisbury game.

4. In a heated and fast action basketball game, the referees really have to keep "on the ball"!

No matter how much the Huskies sweat and toil over practice, it seems as though they're usually handed the short end of the stick. But, even though the team as a whole doesn't win, each player has his own personal victory. For some it is a good shot; for others an effective block; and for some select few, being the high scorer. The thrill of competition and the pressure of defense are worth the hard work and sweat put into a practice session or a game.

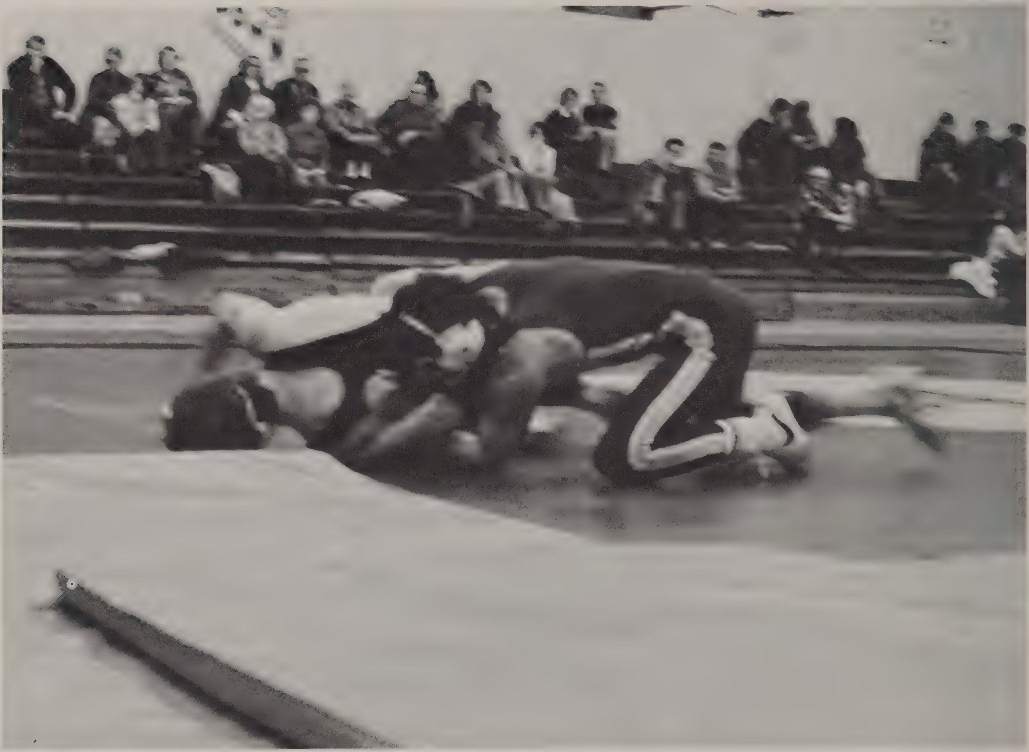
2. In a fierce struggle against his opponent from Frankfort, Randy Broadwater comes out on top for a pin.

3. After tangling with Keith Kamp and losing, an unlimited Fort Hill wrestler struggles to his feet.

4. Against the iron will of of Galen Kamp, his Frankfort contender makes a hopeless attempt to prevent being pinned.

Always before in the history of Northern wrestling, the boys had to be at least ninth grade students to wrestle. Finally, this year someone came up with the idea for a seventh and eighth grade team. The team does not have a regularly scheduled season, but scores a victory in a match against A.J. McMullen; and in tournaments held at Meyersdale, several wrestlers place. The competition provides valuable experience for upcoming NHS wrestlers.

Go! Fight! Pin!



Tony Artice checks the struggles of his opponent with a strong hold.

Ken Ortlip is greeted by his teammates as he leaves the mat, victorious.

1. Undefeated Tony Artice comes close to a pin, but has to settle for a tie against Bruce.

2. As a rising wrestling star, Galen Kamp upholds his reputation with a pin.

3. Following a knee operation, Keith Kamp becomes a champion as he prepares to save the match for Northern in sweat pants and a football jersey.

4. After a close match against Bruce, Keith Kamp ties it up for Northern with a pin.

The Northern-Bruce wrestling match in December, 1976, turns out to be one of the most exciting in the team's history. The match is close right up to the 185-pound weight class. Ken Ortlip comes out with a pin, and the only way to victory is a win in the Unlimited class. Keith Kamp, recovering from a knee operation, disappears into the locker room and emerges in time for his match wearing his practice outfit. The referee allows him three minutes to get into a uniform. Dragging Randall Glotfelty, who is wearing Keith's uniform, after him, Keith changes and reappears to hand Bruce a pin, winning the match for N.H.S.

Although Northern High is in it's 25th year, girls' sports have only recently received special attention. In 1976 a girls volleyball team was formed, involving 14 Sr. High girls with Mrs. Robinson coaching. Eight matches were played, and even though the team was victorious only twice, Northern can be proud of these girls for a commendable effort and wish them luck in seasons to come.

1. Every move counts in this close game against cross-county rival, Southern. Pam Frantz takes a jump ball against her opponent.

2. In a hard, fast game, Elaine Rodeheaver pauses before moving in for a shot.

3. After gaining a fast break, Pam Frantz attempts a jump shot against an opponent from Bishop Walsh.

4. Passing over the outstretched hands of her opponent, Diane Evans makes connection with a team-mate.

The girls' basketball team was first formed for the 1971-72 season. The undefeated "Andrew's Army" started off with a bang under the coaching of Pat Andrews. After one winning season, the team lost Mrs. Andrews, but Mrs. Vent took over. For the 74-75 season, the team had quite a colorful variety of coaches. Mrs. Vent, Mr. Riggs, Mrs. Ann McCutcheon, and Mrs. Betty Wellborn each took their turns. Donna Verdini took over for 75-76. And, finally, Ginny Myers leads the girls' team for the 1976-77 season.

Girls' Team Shows Determination

As Diane Evans sends the ball over her opponent's head, Sandi Sisler prepares to receive the tip-off.

Tension mounts as Pam Frantz aims for a foul shot.

Out-jumping her opponent, Sandi Sisler tips the ball to a teammate.

1. Getting extensive playing time this season, sophomore Sandi Sisler drives the lane for an easy two points.

2. The ball is airborne out of Brenda Yommer's hands as it moves toward the goal.

3. With a second period foul shot, Pam Frantz makes an attempt to tie the score.

4. After snagging the defensive rebound, Sandi Sisler controls the offensive play.

In Pam Frantz's opinion, the 1976-77 season is the most disappointing one in years. For the first time in the brief history of girls' basketball, the team loses to cross-country rival, Southern. Brenda Yommer feels that even though the team suffered a losing season, each girl contributed her best with dedication. Helen Friend comments that the girls had fun playing, even though their record doesn't show their potential. The feeling of the team is summarized by Donna Swauger's statement that, in spite of discouragement, "we had so much fun, got into good shape and met new friends . . . I'll remember this season as a good one."

Students Participate In Other Sports

Although fun and relaxing, bicycling is an invigorating activity, Hillel Brandes finds both enjoyment and exercise on his way to work.

During deer season in November, the woods are full of hunters. Millard Yoder displays his prize.

The open spaces of Garrett County make horseback riding popular. Sharon Fike poses on a race horse.

1. The energy crunch has made motorcycles increasingly popular because of their fuel economy, whether street bikes like Delbert Miller's or trail bikes.

2. Students like Dee Speicher have contributed to the popularity of the skateboard. Any smooth surface, such as a large sidewalk here, will suffice for doing tricks or just gliding along on a skateboard.

3. Sometimes the "catch" of fishing is not as valuable a reward as the serenity found sitting peacefully on a sunny bank. Darrel Schrock fishes in a neighbor's pond.

To balance the drudgery of school, students participate in physical activities that have very little relation to school. During the summer months, Deep Creek Lake and the many other recreational areas in Garrett County provide swimming, boating, and camping facilities for students to enjoy. For those capable of hitting a good drive, the fairways and greens of the Oakland Country Club offer great entertainment. For others who can only putt, the many minigolf courses are a good place to go. Garrett County in the summertime offers just about anything an outdoors person could wish for.

Winter Sports In Garrett County Snowball

After an impressive show of his skiing skills, Brian Glotfelty comes to a halt in a spray of snow.

Skiing on one leg takes balance and coordination, as displayed by Perry Buckingham and Doug DeWitt.

Garrett County provides many opportunities to participate in winter sports. Plenty of snowfall and cold temperatures are taken advantage of by tourists as well as natives. The mountainous landscape makes for excellent skiing and sled-riding. The Wisp attracts downhill skiers from all over, and cross-country skiing has become a drawing card for the New Germany State Park. The frozen lakes and ponds of the area offer ice fishing and ice skating. Snowmobiling is a popular winter sport and involves many Garrett Countians. And for those "children" of all ages, there is plenty of white stuff for snowmen and snowball battles.

In order to familiarize junior high students with the agriculture program, the Junior North Garrett Future Farmers of America was formed in 1973. Members participate in the same contests and activities as the North Garrett members. This experience acts as three years of practice, so that when they become sophomores, the workings of the senior high chapter are easier to comprehend. Many times the Jr. North Garrett out does North Garrett because the young seem to have more enthusiasm and gusto. The Jr. North Garrett FFA is one of six junior chapters in the state.

North Star Staff

Challenged by endless masses of snow, the NORTH STAR staff of 1977 faces lost hours of precious time. Journalism II becomes one huge migraine for the editor and section editors. As this cloud of doom hovers over their heads, they work diligently to defy the odds. But when the books finally arrive, the staff is rewarded with a feeling of satisfaction which makes the past headaches seem far away but very worthwhile.

Supervisor Lucille Sines and the VIKING staff publish the school newspaper seven times a year. Before the paper is sent to the publishers, the staff must research the topics throughly, transform the information into stories, type the written articles, and then, finally, paste up dummy sheets. The VIKING staff uses its own darkroom and photography equipment to develop and print pictures. In 1975-76 the VIKING won four top prizes in journalism including the first place Medalist Award from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and a first place rating from the Maryland Scholastic Press Association.

Students who become members of the Jr. or Sr. Chorus enjoy learning varied types of music from classical to the popular songs of today. Singing in the chorus is a relaxing escape from the mental anguishes of an otherwise academic load. The first vocal department of twenty-five years ago consisted of only one Choral Club. Today it has been expanded to a total of three choruses that perform for the public and contribute to Northern's musical reputation.

The violin class was started in September 1974. Since that time thirty-six students have taken the class. At present, there are seventeen students enrolled in Strings I and Strings II. Strings I is basically for beginners who learn the fundamentals of violin playing. As students advance to Strings II class, they work on Vivaldi and Bach concertos and many of Mozart's works. The Strings classes are the infant of the music department and provide a new type of music enjoyment for interested students.

North Garrett FFA

The FFA, an integral part of the vocational agriculture courses, is active year round. Some projects involve milking a cow or cleaning a barn, but others are based on agriculture processing, sales and service, electrification or mechanics.

Preservation of our resources is the key to the forest, soil and water, and fish and wildlife management programs. For those not interested in these areas, there are opportunities through leadership and cooperation practices.

In 1953, the Cove FFA Chapter was formed from the three area high school chapters. Major projects were developing the school farm, a potato plot, and sponsoring the Sweetheart Contest and the Parent-Son Banquet. Later the name was changed to the North Garrett FFA. In 1973 the Jr. North Garrett FFA was formed to give Jr. High students a chance to investigate the program.

This department is the only one in the state that operates two FFA chapters under a one-teacher program. It is also one of seven which operates school farms.

In 1966 the agriculture facilities were increased by the addition of a shop, a glass greenhouse and a headhouse. As interest in plant production increased, the FFA purchased a 100-foot fiberglass greenhouse in 1972.

Major projects in recent years have been many: mulch hay for the freeway, green beans for canneries, operation of the school farm, raising of steers, breeding beef, hog and sheep projects, citrus fruit sales, plant products from the green house, and judging contests.

At the county fair students exhibit projects, floats and educational booths. One of the most enjoyable events is the Parent-MEMBER Banquet (reflecting the fact that girls are now members) where members demonstrate skills in leadership and cooperation.

The largest combined effort of the Jr. North Garrett and North Garrett members is the selling of citrus fruit to finance their annual Parent-Student Banquet, and other activities. As the trailer pulls in, members gather hurriedly to unload and stack the fruit as George Wilt hands it down.

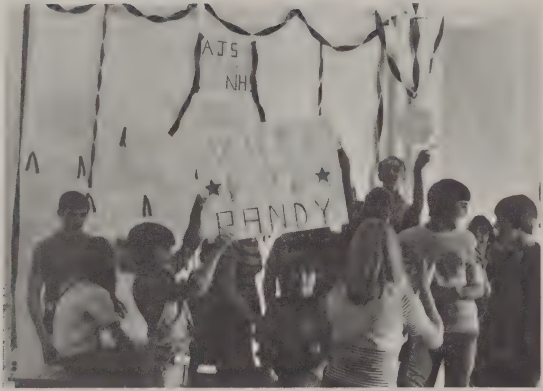
New Learning Opportunities Offered For Students In Social Studies



Conducting an actual party convention and election gave the Civics classes insight as to how our political system works.

By taking notes from texts, Barb Wilt fulfills the 10th grade world History requirement.

The vocational opportunities of Garrett County are studied by Danny Georg, Allan Skidmore and Kevin Frazee during POD.

Flashing lights and old time music are special effects used by Kurt Lear and Scott Glotfelty to present a Charlie Chaplain comedy in U.S. History.

Various aspects of society are explored in the Social Studies Department. Career opportunities are probed in the ninth grade Civics and Twelfth grade POD classes to inform students of careers best suited to their interests. Activities such as campaigning, 1920's skits, and new audio-visual aids have given the Social Studies Department quite a boost since 1952.

As winner of the American Legion Oratorical Contest, junior Janice Riggs receives a medal and a twenty dollar check for her efforts.

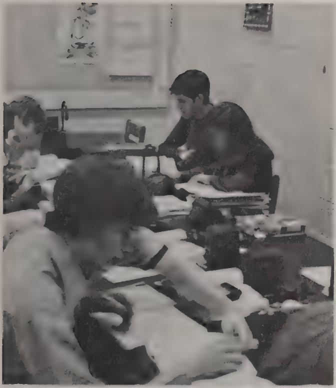
Captivating the mood of the 1920's, Ann Hershberger models styles of the times.

Expansion Of Science Department Evident At Northern

One of the seniors attending Camp Hickory for a nature study course is Debi Garlock. A major project is learning to identify winter twigs.

Ninth grade Earth Science students, Joe Riggs and Steve Frazee, experiment with a self-made hydrometer.

In order to make a wash bottle for chemistry experiments, juniors Vicki Miller and Connie Wakefield polish broken glass ends.



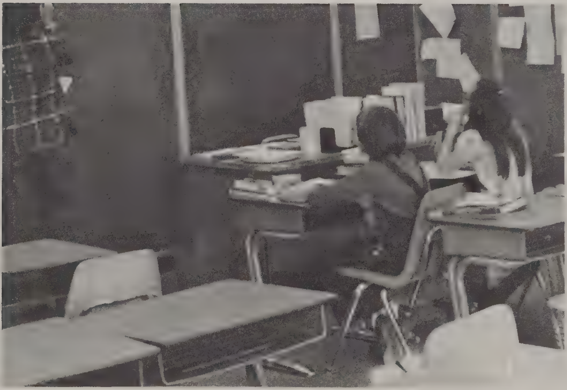
In a Senior Physics class students study independently and work at their own pace.

When NHS opened in 1952 there were three teachers in the Science Department: a biology teacher, one for chemistry and physics, and a ninth-grade science teacher. As the years passed, a seventh and eighth grade science program was started. The course was offered to eighth graders three days a week, and to seventh graders only two days per week. But this, like other problems of the new school, was overcome. Eventually, science courses ranging from seventh Grade General Science to Sr. Physics were offered. Work was begun on Camp Hickory during the early years of Northern. Although many of our parents helped in the construction of this beautiful area, they didn't benefit from it as do students today. The science department has come a long way!

Glass-polishing takes some skill and a great deal of concentration, as is displayed by George Wilt in his sophomore biology class.

The results of an Earth Science experiment is observed by Joyce Thomas and Nancy Collier.

Language Classes Contribute Additional Activities



Concentration is a key word in the learning process. Connie Tasker and Sheila Frantz benefit from individualized instruction in Mrs. Slider's reading class.

English classes aren't just nouns, verbs, and adjectives. These 8th graders work on a reading and writing assignments.

Many hours of hard work go into the production of the yearbook. Connie Wakefield, Cheryl Landon, and Dave Savage draw up pages for the edition.

The study of French foods is a delicious part of "le classe de francais." Here, Miss Norris and Joyce Thomas prepare crepes.

English classes have been required for a number of years. Such areas as speech, poetry, literature, grammar, and composition are endured by all who dare to enter the presence of an English teacher. In recent years the addition of mini-courses has given students a variety of subjects from which to choose and the opportunity for in-depth study.

LA
BELLE

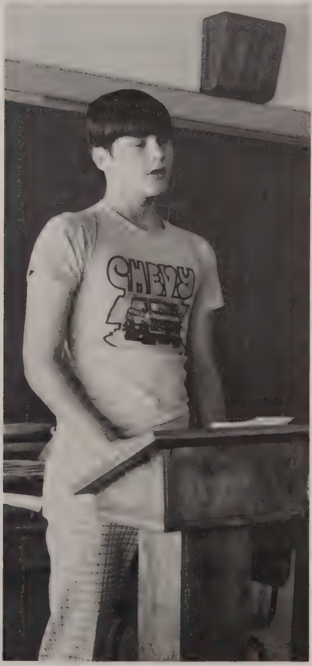
French III is the study of French culture and advanced language skills. Lois Maust and Tim Miller prepare their puppets for the French version of "Beauty and the Beast."



English classes cover a variety of areas. Gene King presents his speech to the class.

Vocational Programs Prepare Many For Future Jobs

A major project of the Building Trades class is building a model house to scale.

By checking transistors and integrated circuits, Danny Fike and John Durst repair the faulty digital capacator checker built by tasl year's electronics class.

Applying useful skills in constructing a china cabinet, Don Paugh carefully measures a board to be cut.

To change a tire, Tom VanSickle applies skills learned in Auto Mechanics.

The vocational classes offer programs for those students who feel school should be more than just "reading, 'riting, and 'rithmetic." Courses in electronics, auto mechanics, building trades, agriculture, business education and home economics allow students a chance to incorporate both mental and manual skills. Students find that these courses also aid in finding jobs. Although the classes may not relate directly to all jobs students might pursue, the skills learned can be applied in everyday life.

Many people in the community support the efforts of the horticulture classes by buying poinsettias during the Christmas season. Checking the crop before final sales are Mr. Loughrie and Rex Schmidt.

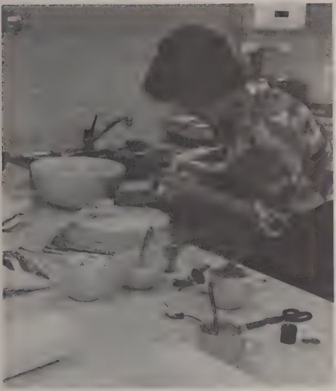
Soil for planting seeds is prepared by Meredith Brenneman in horticulture.

Business And Home Ec. Classes Teach Marketable Skills

Recordkeeping enables students to keep records pertinent to today's society. Marie Guard adds up her total for the class assignment.

Correct techniques of touch control and learning the keyboard are valuable lessons of Typing I. Brenda Sisler and Becky Harman perform the task.

Typing II is the mastery of techniques learned in Typing I. Lucy Guthrie and Barb Miller practice materials for the class.



Home economics covers a variety of homemaking areas. Donna Swauger demonstrates cake decorating.

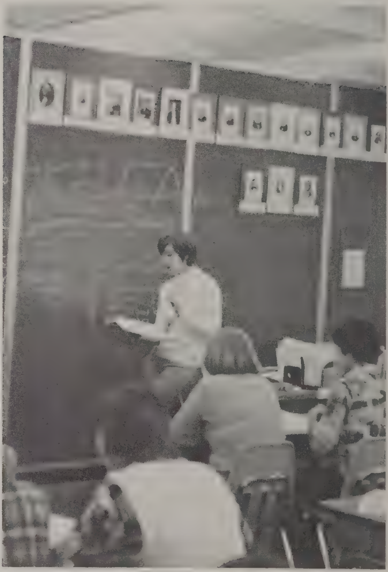
Vocational areas for girls at N. H. S. have broadened in the past twenty-five years. The Home Economics and Business Departments have changed with the times. New devices such as the microwave oven and modern sewing machines have been added for home economics. To the typewriters of twenty-five years ago, the Business Department has added the modern calculator, electric and IBM typewriters, and transcribing and dictation equipment with headsets.

The pleasant aroma flowing from the dining room convinces most of the faculty to dine there. Mr. Custer enjoys his noon meal, prepared by the senior high home economics class.

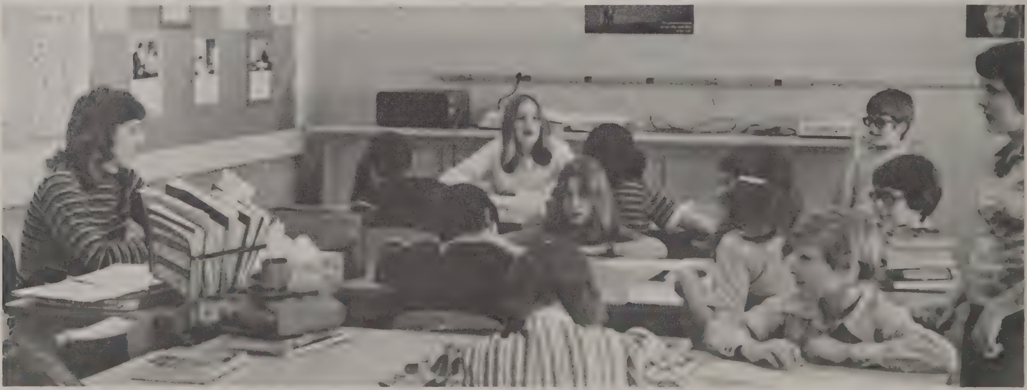
Child development has become a part of the Home Economics Department. Preschoolers are cared for by members of the class.

Metric System Moves In

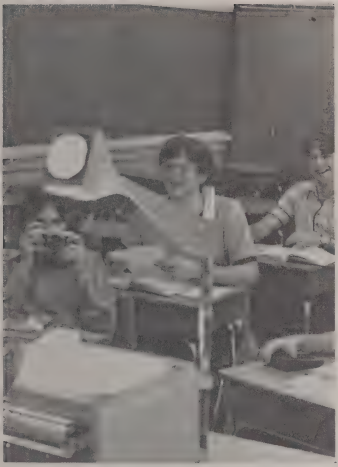
Eighth grader Barbara DeWitt works on a problem of measuring length by the metric system.



By using known theorems of congruent triangles, Miss Dorsey explains a proof to her 4th period class.



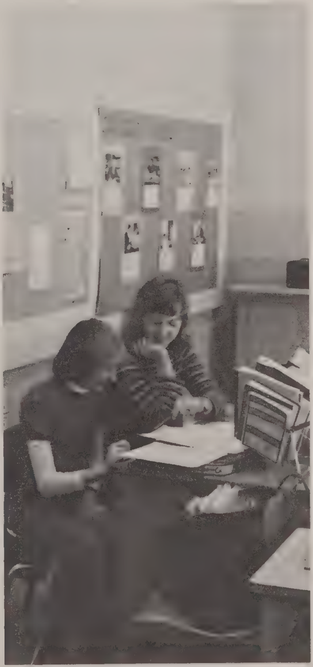
Seventh grade math students direct their attention to Miss Crowe for instructions.



Trigonometry doesn't seem to be the only thing on the minds of Dave Wellborn, Todd Stockslager, and Darrel Evans.

Twenty-five years ago the seemingly unknown and unused metric system was only vital to chemistry and physics students. Today the metric system takes a noticable stand in most math classes at Northern. Due to the changing trends in the United States, we are all learning to adjust and to enjoy the conveniences granted us by this foreign but ageless system.

Student achievement and understanding of geometric principles are measured by standardized tests. But Greg Frazee uses his as a shield from the camera.



Assisting seventh grader Diane Bowser with her math problem is Miss Crowe.

Students Believe In Music

Trying to get the band members attention can be quite a chore, but once Mr. Schwing achieves this, the music flows from their instruments as it did during the Christmas concert.

A successful chorus performance requires many hours of hard work. Here some of the Sr. Chorus members are seen in the performance of the Christmas Concert.

Practice never ceases to make perfect. Sr. Chorus members, Larry Beiler, Dave Savage, Mark Hyson, and Richard Buckingham, enhance their music ability during class session.

Many students are in both Jr. and Sr. Band, as is Freshman Connie Schroyer.

Music is a part of everyone's life, whether it is just listening to it or making it. Here at Northern, any interested student who is willing to learn and practice can be a part of the band, string class, or chorus. Since 1952 the music department has increased in scope. Twenty-five years ago the band didn't march in parades, the chorus was a choral club, there was one band, and a strings class didn't even exist. Today, with the help of new equipment, more fundings and advanced instruction, the music department has emerged into a new and educational atmosphere.

Strings, a relatively new class at Northern, offers students Millard Yoder, Carla Bender, and Linda Beitzel an additional music class from which to choose.

Jr. Band members, John Buckel, Denise Ringer, and Lois Frazee practice music for basketball games.

Physical Education Takes On A New Look

Table tennis champions, Kurt Lear and Glen Chaplain practice their winning combination.

With student referee Kevin Frazee looking on, Perry Buckingham attempts to convert a foul shot.

Frostburg State College Physical Education major, Tom Bosely does his student teaching at Northern.

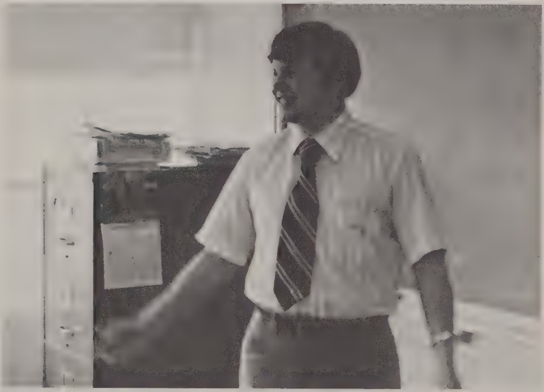
Poised in anticipation, senior high girls await the tap thrown by Tom Bosely.

Physical education, one of the most popular classes at Northern, has experienced steady growth since its beginning in 1953. In the early years of Northern, students were offered physical education classes even though gym facilities were not available. Weather permitting, such sports as volleyball, archery, and fieldball wree played outside; during inclement weather, health courses were conducted in the classroom. Of course, conditions improved when a gym was finally built in 1954, but perhaps having the greatest impact on the department is a recent physical activity requirement for graduation set down by the state. All students from the graduating class of 1979 on must have a physical activity credit each year to meet graduating requirements. As a result of this, classes are becoming more crowded, and many junior and senior students, not required to have a physical activity, but wishing to take P.E. as an elective, are being turned away. So with the changing trend from physical as such, to the more personalized physical activity blocks, the Physical Education Department is definitely taking on a new and different look.

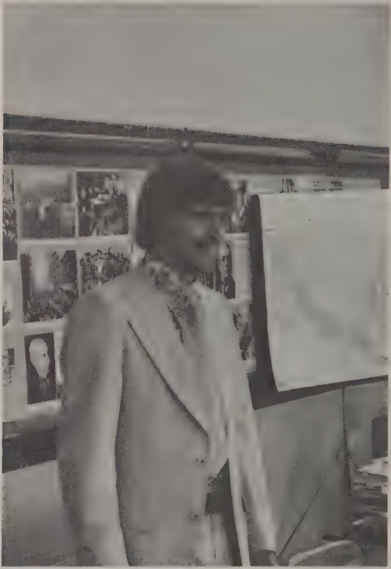
With the beginning of activity blocks in Sr. High P.E., girls find they have the opportunity to participate in otherwise male-dominated activities. Alice Brenneman takes advantage of this by working out in the weight room.

Brad DeWitt attempts to block Marlin Schrock's shot in Sr. High basketball.

Students Say Hello And Goodbye



Taking over some of Mr. Yunker's sociology and P. O. D. classes, Rick Layman does his practice teaching.



A senior at Frostburg State College, Mark Jacobson, in Mrs. Yunker's U. S. History class experiences being a teacher.

Foreign exchange students, Richard Fife of Brazil and Ursula Bradler from Austria, adapt well to Garrett County life styles.

Three students attending G. C. C. full-time are Kendra Fratz, above, and below, left to right, Barry Glotfelty and Kim Gillum. Susan Bender, far right, attends G. C. C. for part of her school day.

Several years ago Garrett Community College was opened, broadening the educational opportunities of Garrett County students. A program enabling high school seniors to take part-time classes or the entire senior year at the college was begun in recent years of G. C. C. Full-time students include Kendra, Melanie, and Stephanie Fratz, Kim Gillum, Barry Glotfelty and John Zuckerman. Susan Bender and David Wellborn attend G. C. C. part-time. Frostburg State College also offers free Saturday morning classes for ambitious juniors and seniors. Many students take advantage of the Released Time Program, which allows one to attend school for the required classes and leave later in the day for either college classes or work. The Co-Op schedule is similar to this, but in addition, it enables students to obtain high school credits for their time spent outside of school. All of these programs are designed to give students experiences and educational opportunities offered outside the traditional "schoolhouse gate."

Art And Driver Education Courses Add Variety To Basic School Curriculum

Once offered as only a two or three day a week class, the art program at Northern has expanded to encompass new facets of modern art. While the basics of line and symmetry are taught beginning classes, advanced art enthusiasts are allowed to freely experiment with new and different art forms, applying the basics learned in previous courses. Art is one of the many electives at Northern that add variety and spice to the school curriculum.

Connie Thomas works on a painting for her senior high art class.

This frosty penguin, one of the eighth grade students' projects, finds shelter on the cafeteria wall, as did many other creatures.

Eighth grade art students, William Guthrie and Tommy Humberson, display their own face creations.

Both on-the-road and classroom instruction are essential.

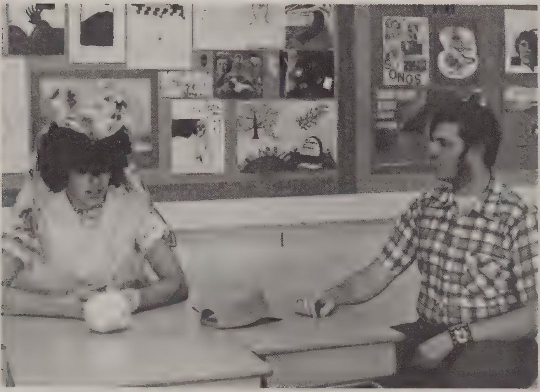
Driver Education has come a long way since the beginning of Northern High. At first it was offered as an elective, and in 1953 only two girls and four boys participated in the course. Since then, the method of teaching, along with the types of cars used, has changed dramatically. Driver education has become a required course for tenth graders, and students are now well-trained behind the wheel and in the classroom.

For many tenth graders, on-the-road training means their first time behind the wheel; but some, like Kevin Margroff, have learned to drive on farms.

Even in adverse weather conditions Driver Ed. student, Lori Taylor, braves the road.

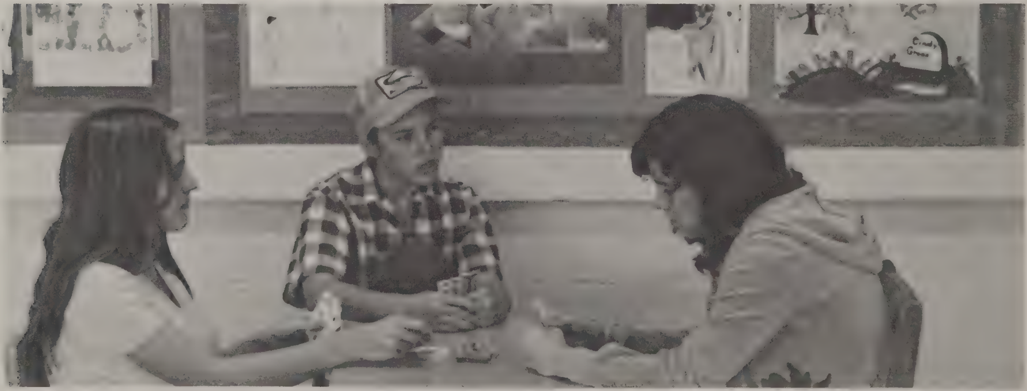
Drama Students Assume Various Roles

Characters of many walks of life are evident in the drama classes. Students have recently been able to participate in productions and activities through this new addition to the curriculum.



During a drama skit, "Miss" Galen Beitzel and Matthew Beasley have a friendly chat.

Various faces appear from behind this tree. Designed by the drama students, all are characters in the class puppet show.



Portraying the roles of "cool dudes" are Sherry Griffith, Kathy Benedict and Terri Robinson in drama skit.

Class History

Twenty-five years ago the first class of seniors graduated from N.H.S. Now, twenty-five years later a different yet similar class will graduate. We have gone through six years at N.H.S.--they had only one. Both classes had to face a new world and stand on their own feet to survive. For us the seventh grade in 1971, school was fun, or hard work, or boring, depending on how one looked at it. The years passed quickly, and suddenly we were on the threshold of senior high.

As sophomores we elected our first class officers: Cindi Greco, President; Keith Kamp, Vice President; Roxann Resh, Secretary; and Cathy Reckner, Treasurer. Cindi Greco, Terry Robinson, and Kathy Benedict cheered the varsity teams on, and several of our sophomores lettered in sports this year. In one of the most beautiful autumns ever, Cindi Greco was Autumn Glory Princess with Randy Eberhart as her escort. Tony Artice represented our class on the Student-Faculty Senate with Valerie Loughrie as his Alternate. In the music and marching departments, sophomores were represented by Patty Edgar and Jill VanSickle on the Drill Team with Sharon Barefoot as third lieutenant and Cheryl Rexrode as Manager. Mel Fratz and Sandy Thomas were senior high majorettes, and Susan Bender and Debi Garlock were selected for the color guard. On the Band Council, Sue Bender was tenth grade representative. Sophomores contributed in various capacities to the production of the NORTH STAR and the VIKING. All too quickly tenth grade left us and we moved on to bigger things.

Class rings and mini courses were the novelties of our junior year. Mini courses were enjoyed by most of us. Then we ordered our class rings with several added options, due to the bargaining skills of our new officers--Cindi Greco, President; Donna Swauger, Vice President; Cathy Reckner, Secretary; and Kathy Benedict, Treasurer. In the Autumn Glory festivities Donna Swauger was chosen Junior Princess with Tony Artice as her escort. Our Student-Faculty Senate representative was Dave Wellborn, with Debi Garlock as Alternate; and this year a junior, Kendra Fratz, was Vice President. On the Band Council Tim Humberson was selected as our grade representative and two juniors were selected as officers--Cathy Reckner as Secretary and Sue Bender as Treasurer. On the NORTH STAR Beckv DeWitt was promoted to Business Manager. Valerie Loughrie was co-editor of the NORTH STAR and co-captain of the annual magazine campaign. Valerie Loughrie was also chosen by Mr. Keplinger to attend the chemistry symposium in College Park. Cindi Greco won local, district, and state oratorical contests and participated in the regional contests. Two members of our class received the WOW History Award. They were Cindi Greco and John Zuckerman. With the money we had earned in our sophomore year selling Rex in disguised bottles, and this year by selling candy bars, a successful prom was presented at the Wisp with the theme "Dream On." Before our junior year ended, several French III students traveled to Quebec and Montreal. They were Kathy Benedict, Wanda Richter, Sherry Miller, Jill VanSickle, Gina Humberson. Debi Garlock, Kendra Fratz, Donna Ross, Cathy Reckner, Greg Frazee, and Roger Yoder. Our newly elected senior class president, Cindi Greco, accepted the mantle from outgoing president, Linda Wengerd, in the '76 graduating ceremonies. We began to realize . . . and then it was true--we were seniors. After an exciting summer for some of our seniors, it was hard to settle down. A few didn't return to N.H.S. after the summer was over. Because of a new program at GCC, some of our class members have departed to enjoy the advantages of college life.

Many other class members are on Released Time. With so many class members leaving, we welcome others. First come those participating in the Early Graduation program. They include Robert Bender, Dave Durst, Diana Sines, Steve Sisler, Bill Wilt, and, Ron Yoder. For the first time there will be foreign exchange students graduating with a class at N.H.S. They are Ursula Bradler from Austria. and Richard Fife from Brazil; both have made many friends this year. WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS gave several at N.H.S. the opportunity to be included in their publications. Among those accepted were Sue Bender, Gina Humberson, Jill VanSickle, Kendra Fratz, Wanda Richter, Kathy Benedict, Mark Edmiston, Kevin Frazee, Glenn Broadwater, John Zuckerman, Darrel Evans, Todd Stockslager, and Debi Garlock. Summer school was also a big thing this year. Participants included Cindi Greco and Dave Wellborn. In our junior year Mrs. Yunker helped choose members of our class to go to Boys State during the summer. This year it was Randy Broadwater and Eddie Kamp who were chosen.

After all the summer activity, we elected class officers. Darrel Evans was elected Vice President, Carol Durst, Secretary; Chester Yoder, Treasurer; Roger Yoder, Parliamentarian; and Debi Garlock Historian. An Activities Committee was also elected. That included Roxann Resh, Sue Bender, Wendy Bender, Cathy Reckner, and Kathy Benedict. Eventually, everyone got back into the swing of things as Terri Robinson was elected Captain of the Varsity Cheerleaders and Cindy Greco as Co-Captain. Later as Cindi resigned as Co-Captain of the Cheerleaders, Kathy Benedict took her place. A new Drill Team was started and Sue Bishoff was made Captain with Jill VanSickle and Donna Swauger as her Co-Captains. On the Band Council, Cathy Reckner was elected President, Sue Bender Treasurer, and Debi Garlock Secretary, with Carol Durst as grade representative. In chorus Larry Beiler was elected President. On the NORTH STAR Valerie Loughrie was made Editor, while Cindi Greco was appointed Editor of the Viking. On the Student-Faculty Senate Valerie Loughrie was elected President, Richard Buckingham Vice President, Carol Durst Secretary, and Donna Swauger Treasurer. The grade representative was Jamie Sisler with Debi Garlock as Alternate. In our junior year we had chosen our Autumn Glory members and they made a good show in this year's festivities. They were Kathy Benedict, Maid of Honor, with Doug Butler escort, and Mary Kay Frantz, princess, with Mike Fratz as escort. After Autumn Glory comes Homecoming, and Susan Bender was crowned queen. Her court was Kathy Benedict, Terri Robinson, Cindy Greco, Donna Swauger, and Cathy Reckner. When clubs were started there were several senior lettermen. to be initiated.

Finally, the executive and activities committees planned the senior party with the theme "Knockin' on Heaven's Door ." Everyone had fun with dancing, playing volleyball, basketball, and ping pong. Each individual had many smaller, but no less important memories, and there was more to come. Senior pictures, gowns, announcements, the class trip, the class picnic and, finally, graduation! And after that? Everything!

Class Motto

And one day we must begin our own great explorations. No longer will we always find a hand to hold, nor always hear a voice that calls us back. We must build our castles, open our own doors, follow our own paths. For now we are individuals . . . You and I.

Class Prayer

By Wanda Richter

Dear Heavenly Father,

We are now nearing an end to an important part in our lives and our futures are uncertain and unsecure. The years have passed quickly, and suddenly our dreams, hopes, and goals are upon us. Eyes are filled with tears of good-bye as everyone prepares to enter the world. We step forward, experienced, yet hopeful. Be with us through all stress, discouragements and decisions that we face and through joy, satisfaction and happiness that we achieve May we all face these occasions with wisdom, and may your grace allow us to forgive, to go forth, and to understand. You have guided us safely through the past years through sharing, friendships, mistakes, hurt and sorrow. May you continue to guide, forgive, care for, and love us in the future years.

Amen

ADMINISTRATION & FACULTY

Empty walls and halls,
Rows of desks and empty chairs . . .
Can this be a school?
Fill the halls with hundreds of feet and voices.
Fill the rows of desks with faces
-happy, indifferent,
eager.
Give us a school year-
And we will fill the empty plan
books,
Search for ways of motivation,
Gather stacks of papers for grading and evaluation.

According to Mr. Riggs, who has been teaching at Northern for 25 yrs., educational opportunities have greatly increased. Many new courses have been added, and athletic opportunities have increased. But Mr. Riggs also added that student's attitudes have deteriorated and that apathy is a commom problem at Northern.

Mrs. Robinson feels that Northern hasn't really changed much since she's been teaching here. The physical education program is much more flexible, and senior high students can choose the activities they are interested in. Mrs. Robinson also feels that the cheerleaders have improved because of attending camp and practicing to excel. "I have really enjoyed working with the students and teaching at Northern. It has been, and still is, a good place to teach."

Mrs. Sines, who has been teaching at NHS for over 20 years, feels that the school offers more opportunities for course selections, more funds for the improvement of students, and that students have more freedom. However, she says that when she first came to NHS, student behavior was much better and students had more respect for property, teachers, and each other.

ADVERTISING

In order to show our appreciation, we have set apart those businesses which advertised in the 1953 NORTH STAR. Twenty-five years ago, the 1st NORTH STAR staff started a tradition which has been upheld by every staff since, and the NORTH STAR has been supported by the businesses of the area. We'd like to thank them for their support.

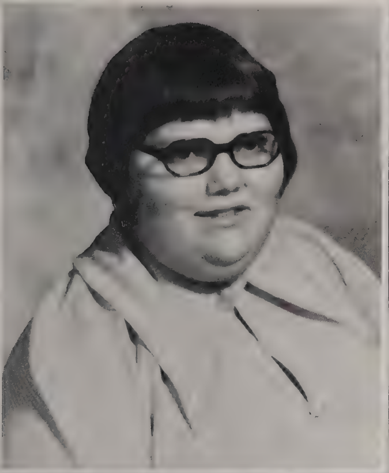
In Memoriam



Esther Mae Kolb
Died--October 18, 1975

Students who knew Esther will always remember her warm smile and her touch of kindness as they pass through the halls of Northern.

Sam Thomas
Died--April 26, 1975

To the kids who rode Sam's bus, the time they spent with him will always be cherished in memories of humor and kindness.

In recent years we've been engrossed with reflecting on the past. After commemorating the Bicentennial and Northern's silver anniversary, we must no longer gaze over our shoulders, but look full-heartedly towards the "future." This year marks the beginning of the Tricentennial. What we do today will form the traditions of tomorrow for our country. What we accomplish today will be the history of the school's golden anniversary. In relation to some things, our year is an end, to others--a new beginning. The future is composed of the background of today and the hopes of tomorrow.

Farm

Looking towards the future means comparing it with the past. Marvin Callis, Vo. Ag. instructor, and Floyd Baker, FFA chapter president in 1953, spent much energy carving out a 48-acre school farm from the 160 acres of school property. A few years later Mr. Albert Ringer obtained the money to build a barn, and the Farm Bureau aided in the construction. However, pieces of the farm have been slowly taken since. For use in new construction, 12 acres were used 11 1/2 years ago. Seven years ago $14,000 was spent to purchase Ford equipment for the remaining 36 acres. As the pressure of less acreage has increased, 230 acres has been rented from interested persons such as George Coddington, B.O. Aiken, Nina Glotfelty, Rev. Joseph Hull, and Harold McKenzie. But now the true meaning of centralization is being felt. The construction of the middle school and a sewage treatment plant has taken 27 acres. To continue the program, the farm is reaching 20 miles away to Savage Mountain. A program that in the past ten years has housed 163 cattle for projects, along with sheep and hogs, must move to survive. A question remains for the future: will the next 25 years leave open spaces for moving, or must we sacrifice space for "progress"? Perhaps someday, better understanding between teachers and students will be achieved by mutual effort.

Understanding

Each new year brings with it the desire for greater understanding between people. May the 50th graduating class of 2002 hold a greater understanding of the world and its people than we do today.

Perhaps some day even our cheerleaders will be mechanical.

Teachers

The new teachers of 1977 will be the veterans of 2002, and those who are veterans today may be vintage by that time. But as the years unfold, teaching methods will undoubtedly change from what we know today. There are great possibilities in teaching by television or other mechanical means. Won't it be nice to be able to unplug your teachers?

Universe

Since 1953 much has been discovered about our universe. Man has ventured to the moon, explored Mars, and is becoming increasingly interested in Jupiter. What lies in the future? Will we live on other planets? Will we discover the secrets of our universe, or are we now at a standstill?

Exemplifying the increased use of mechanical means for instruction, the Physical Education department purchases a $5,000 "universal."

The new Northern Middle School is only one of the ways Garrett County schools are expanding.

Renovation

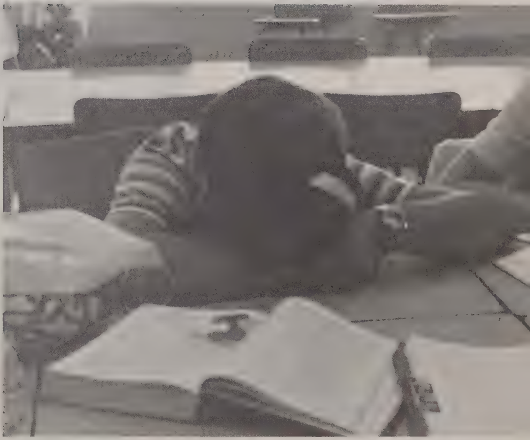
Renovation and construction seem to be key words of the American society. As the population of the county increases and schooling becomes more sophisticated, a need for the renovation of old schools and the building of new ones becomes evident. One wonders what will happen to Northern High School in the next twenty-five years. Will she last to see the 50th graduating class? Will she need extensive renovation, or must a new school be built?

the End

If one remains after school long enough, some unexpected things can happen at the end of the day. For example, could this be the mild-mannered, sophisticated librarian we all know?

Some reactions of the extended days were, "it's terrible" and "it's useless." Mary Wheeler, a Junior, expelled the same reaction. She states that "We're not learning that much more in this amount of time."

The extended day which began on doomsday, April 4, resulted from the snowed in days this past January. From 8:30 until 3:50, students drag through the extra seven minutes added to each class. Duane Butler reacts to this particular tiring day during seventh period by taking a nap. He is one in many to catch up on their sleep during the lingering afternoon.



Orientation And The Extended Day Signal Year's End

Orientation Day is held June 9 for the sixth graders who will be coming to Northern High this coming fall. Puzzled, scared, and unsure looks appear on their faces as they walk through the rooms. Others are bold and brave and yell as they run through the halls.

Here, the incoming students listen to teachers and other staff members who will instruct them when they return next fall.

Talented Northerners Perform

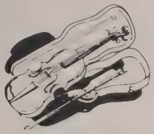
A newly formed ensemble, Blue Ice, wins Students' Choice at the talent show. Participating are Gerhard Baumann, Mark Illick, Freddy Fox, Scott Schwing, Cathy Reckner, Doug DeWitt, Debbie Garlock, Dave Teets, Jimmy Fox, and Arthur Sines.

A Flute solo titled "Swiss Shepherd" by P. Morlacchi was played by Cathy Reckner, winner of first place. She was accompanied on the piano by Susan Bender.

Second place was given to a vocal performer, Dave Savage, who accompanied himself on the piano while he sang "Everything I Own."

One of Northern's accomplished musicians, Laurie Springman plays her violin, accompanied by Janice Riggs.

Representing the majorettes, Connie Schroyer and Jackie Nieb act out a comedy skit.



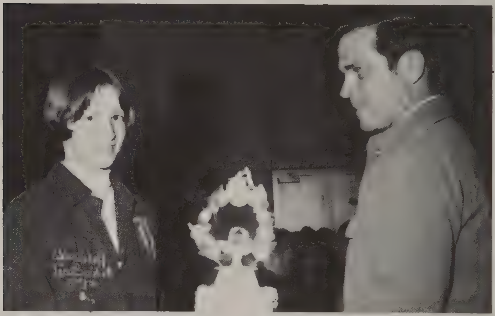
The Annual Talent Show, sponsored by THE VIKING, is held March 30 with a wide variety of acts. There is everything from comedy skits to solo musicians to rock bands. Mrs. Donald Fratz, Lynn Newman, and Mrs. Phyllis Buckel serve as judges.

"Nadia's Theme" is recreated by Debbie Garlock, whose flute solo is accompanied by Rae Ann Brenneman on the piano.

A silent, thoughtful mood is established as Rae Ann Brenneman plays the theme from "Love Story."

Northern Garrett FFA Observes 25th Anniversary

Members of the FFA and their mothers are recognized for their organization of the banquet.



Floyd Baker, who was the first FFA president at NHS, receives the top of the anniversary cake from Sue Bishoff.

The anniversary cake baked by Martha Bishoff is displayed at the banquet.

Mr. Bittinger welcomes some 400 guests who attend the FFA banquet.

Candidates for Regional Star Farmer are presented their awards by Danny Schiffer, National FFA V-Pres. of the Southern Region.

Our FFA celebrates their 25th year of the FFA program at NHS. Over the years students have accomplished many projects at school and in the community. This year, as in past years, the outstanding achievements of the students are recognized at the annual FFA Banquet. Of the more than 400 who attend, those present are parents, friends and distinguished guests from the state and national levels of FFA.

One of the guests who attends the banquet is past FFA member at NHS, Bob Frazee.

Allan Collins presents an award in appreciation to Morris Whipp for the use of his steam engine in the Bicentennial activities at the Garrett County Fair.

Upon receiving the Medallion Award Mike Williams and his parents discuss it with Rex Schmidt.

After the crowning of the Queen, the court joins her in dancing to the theme song, "Could It Be Magic?"

"Could It Be Magic?"

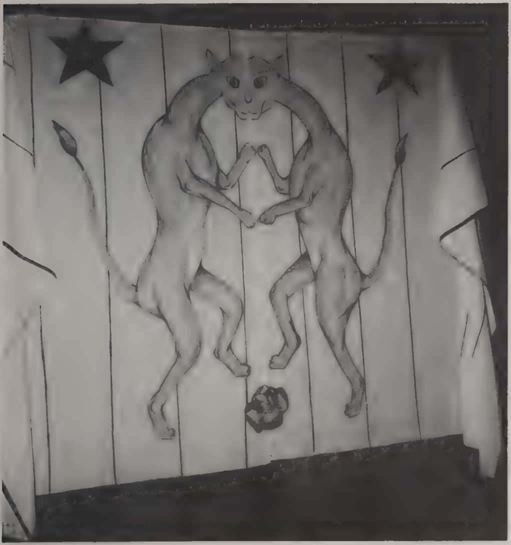
The highlight of the Prom is the crowning of the Queen. Donna Jo Swauger has been chosen to reign for the class of 77.

During the Prom, "zaney awards" are presented to students for certain "achievements," Scott Glotfelty presents Gina Humberson with the Socially Elite Award.

Could It Be Magic

The Queen's court consists of the remaining seven candidates, all of whom are presented with silver charms inscribed with "Prom Princess."

This unique piece of work constructed by Cora Humberson and Marie Guard was the most outstanding of the decorations for the Prom.



Taking advantage of the assortment of foods served buffet style at the Prom are Ann Hershberger and her escort.

Usually dressed in blue jeans and T-shirts, Danny George, Alan Skidmore, and Donny Paugh show a display of class.

The head table stands for recognition as the Prom gets underway. Honored guests are Mr. and Mrs. Bittinger, Tim Miller-Master of Ceromonies, Vickie Miller, Perry Buckingham, Cindy Greco-President of the senior class, Marlin Shrock, and Becky Stanton-President of the junior class.

The Jr.-Sr. Prom and Banquet still remains one of the biggest events of the school year. Smorgasboard style of serving at the banquet provides an assortment of vegetables, meats, and desserts. "Could It Be Magic?" has been selected by the Junior Class as the theme for the prom, and appropriate decorations are used. The main highlight of the evening is the crowning of the queen. Donna Jo Swauger has the honor of being chosen Prom Queen for 1977.

Entertainment Provided By Student Performers

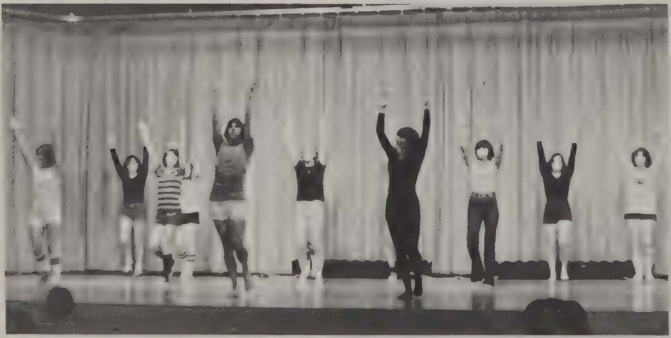
"A Salute to Broadway and Movie Themes" is the title of Northern Dance Troupe's second production. The dance concert consists of dances choreographed by two teachers and seven dance club members. Songs chosen for the dances come from well known productions such as "Pippin," "West Side Story," "Godspell," "Fiddler on the Roof," "Jesus Christ, Superstar," "A Star is Born" and "Hair." The show is narrated by Mr. Randy Tusing, Jill VanSickle and Gina Humberson. The narration tells the story of "The Dancer's Dream" from the time of try-outs to until the final number on opening night.

Cindy Greco is presented the Best Dancer Award by director Randy Tuding at the end of the show. The recipient of the award is chosen by vote of the members of the club.

"I Hope I Get It" from "Chorus Line" is the opening number of the show. This dance conveys the fear and excitement of an audition.

The concentration and hard work that accompany being a dancer are seen in Mr. Randy Tusing and Lisa Winebrenner as they perform "Send in the Clowns."

Smiles of accomplishment light the faces of dancers as they reach the "Dancer's Dream" by performing the finale, "Mame."



Three one-act plays are directed in competition by students of the Drama II class. Awards presented are: Best Actor, Galen Beitzel; Best Actress, Gina Humberson; Best Director, Karen Knox; Best Co-Director, Brian Glotfelty. "The Sandbox" by Edward Albee, "Miriam" by Truman Capote, and "The Case of the Crushed Petunias" by Tennessee Williams are the plays presented by students of the Drama I and II classes and members of the Drama Club.

In the play "Miriam" by Truman Capote, Miss Miller, portrayed by Gina Humberson, is involved in a deep conversation with Miss Lake (Karen Broadwater), The Little Girl (Yvonne Baumann) listens intently.

In the park Miss Miller reminisces as the Little Girl distracts Miss Lake's attention from the boring conversation.

While encouraging them to stay longer, Miss Miller cannot help but notice that the child, known in the play simply as The Little Girl, is overly enthusiastic about going home.

After months of planning our band is finally on its way down the streets of Canada.

Last minute preparations make band trips even more hectic and fun. Before the parade, Arlene Guard and Yvonne Bauman frantically apply leg make-up.

Band, Chorus,

Strings Produce Sounds Of Music

Band members have the urge to relax after marching in the Blossom '77 Parade in Niagra Falls, Canada.

Tensions are relieved by momentous selections of music, skillfully and beautifully dropped by the Sr. Chorus into the commencement atmosphere of graduation.

Paying tribute to veterans of past wars, our band participates in parades held in Accident, Grantsville, and Friendsville on Memorial Day.

The bands, choruses, and strings provide much school support, and talented entertainment. The '76-'77 school year features the Sr. Band playing at numerour football games, participating in the Northern Bands Concert, and performing at Winchester during the Apple Blossom Festival. It exhibits patriotism with its appearances in Memorial Day parades of local towns. The Sr. Band ends it year of fund raising and dedicated effort with a deserved and long anticipated trip to Canada. The Sr. Chorus stages a production featuring hits of the Carpenters and completes the year with the honor of singing at graduation. Strings II also displays its talents by presenting an ensemble during the chorus presentation. Music has been an active part of Northern for the past 25 years, and the school has seen the addition of musical groups and the contributions of the total music program.

Members of the Sr. Chorus look on as the Strings II Class performs their ensemble arrangement in the finale of "An Evening With the Carpenters."

Outstanding Student Achievement Honored At Awards Assembly

The accumulation of a year's work, or in some cases several year's work, is honored at the annual Awards Assembly. Well deserved recognition is given for students showing outstanding achievement in areas such as athletics, music, drama, drill team, cheerleading, health careers, journalism, student government, academics, and vocational education.

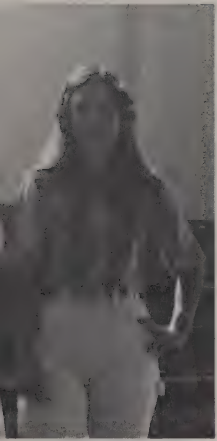
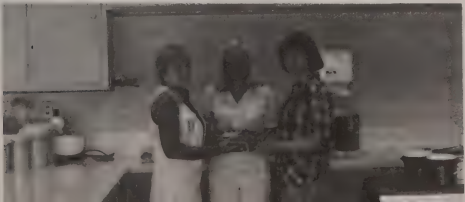
Receiving pins for having the most points through the Activities Point System are seniors Cathy Reckner, Valerie Loughrie, and Terry Jo Robinson. They each tallied over 2,000 points!



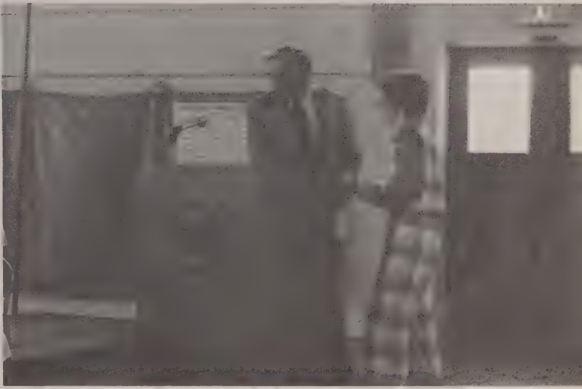
Mr. Walter Younkin presents the anual Woodman of the World American History Award to juniors Lois Maust and Steve Sisler.

Practicing her typing skills is Carol Durst, recipient of the Flying Fingers Award.

Brenda Pope, winner of the Esther Kolb Memorial Award, and Linda McFarland, Outstanding Senior Home Economics Student, receive their awards from Home Ec. teacher Mrs. Vent.



Three-sport letterman, senior Don Paugh is awarded baseballs' Babe Ruth Award which exemplifies the best all around player.



Mr. Dave Davis of the Garrett National Bank presents Cindy Kamp with its annual Vocational Scholarship Award.

Cathy Reckner, Debbie Garlock, Susan Bender receive recognition in Who's Who in High School Music.

Baseball Team Endures Season

1. A stolen base can make the difference between winning and losing a ballgame. Here, Don Paugh tags his opponent from St. Francis as he makes the slide.
2. Doug Butler reaches out for a high pitch to retire the side.
3. Good batting average starts with winning form, as shown by Jamie Workman.
4. Members of student body look on as Kevin Frazee swings for victory against our Southern rivals.

The 1976-77 baseball season is not as successful as all had hoped it would be. Although our wins are few, a victory over Southern restores our hope for the remainder of the season. The Huskies are under a new coaching staff this season consisting of Mr. Yunker as head coach, and Mr. Speicher as his assistant. The season is exciting and enjoyable and many look forward to a rewarding next year.

Senior Activities Accent End Of School Year

One of the highlights of the Sr. year is the exchange of name cards.

A cake decorated in the style of a senior key adorns the head table.

A paper devoted entirely to seniors is put out by interested seniors.

A mood of anticipation dominates the cafeteria as Seniors prepare for the graduation ceremony. Diane Lechliter and Cathy Benedict don their caps and gowns.

A feeling of togetherness is felt by this group of soon-to-be graduates before the long awaited ceremony.

High school graduation comes only once for each class; this year the class of '77 has the honor. Their year is filled with the Senior party, the picnic, and the prom. The class of '77 fusses over pictures and raves over their trip.

It is their year for memory books, senior keys and announcements. It is their year to be the top. This year's class also has the privelege of being seniors during the school's Anniversary Year.

The annual procession starts the graduation ceremony as friends and relatives quietly search for their graduate.

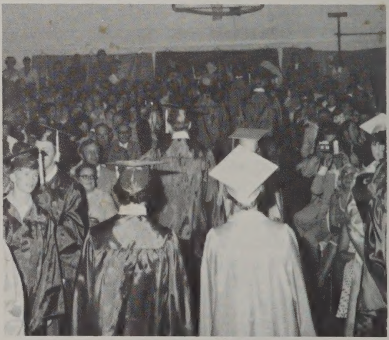
The graduates slowly file into their seats with smiling faces. Their turn has finally come.

An emotional scene is created as out-going president Cindy Greco presents the senior mantle to Becky Stanton, President of the class of '78

In addition to being valedictorian, Cindy Greco is also thrilled by receiving the "I Dare You" award.

The "I Dare You" award is also presented to Darrell Evans for his exceptional achievements throughout high school.

"Looks Like We Made It"



The farewell walk makes up the final step of twelve years of learning, participating and living.

A recount of the years events are given by salutatorian, Gina Humberson, during the graduation ceremony.

Much happiness is felt by all the graduates. Here, Donny Lipscomb and Kevin Frazee display their feelings.
